

Sing City Choir: Come Sing With Us!

Although there are many choirs in Vancouver catering to many musical styles and skill levels, West End based Sing City Show Choir stands out for its emphasis on 60's, 70's, and 80's music, and its motto: "A choir you can dance to."

The joyful and irrepressible enthusiasm of this unique and sometimes irreverent show choir attracts lots of attention, including that of other musicians, and the lucky coincidence that Glee came along when it did has inspired a younger generation to join Sing City.

Sing City Show Choir could be considered the "local, adult version of Glee", according to its members.

Sing City Show Choir will provide choral backup on for "Sing", an original song written by musicians Judy Ginn & Jim Walchuk, and performed by Judy Ginn on their new CD, "The Flying Walchuks ... Without a Net."

Now in their fourth season, Sing City Show Choir is a mixed voice choir conducted by founder, director, and arranger Laura Lang. A well-known professional singer, entertainer, and local vocal coach, Ms. Lang has extensive has experience working with amateur vocalists.

The choir sings pop and rock standards, blues, Motown, jazz, and gospel, in four and five part harmony, performing at least two shows a year with choreography and comedy, and a full band of the best players in Vancouver.

Sing City Show Choir is a community choir in the truest sense, welcomes all ages, and rehearses and performs in a professional and encouraging environment.

"If you can sing in tune, I can teach the rest", she said in a recent Vancouver Courier interview. "Everyone is capable of so much more than they think they are".

If you have said even once "I want to join a choir" now is your chance to follow that urge and find out more. Sing Pop and Rock standards, Motown, Blues, Country, Gospel, and Jazz in four and five part harmony in an enthusiastic, supportive and social atmosphere.

Rehearsals are every Tuesday at a convenient downtown Vancouver location and there are group social events/parties throughout the season. It's a great way to meet new friends who share the love of music and singing!

Become a better singer, and sing for an audience instead of in the shower.
